PROFILE SUMMARY

I enjoy being a junior developer for the problem-solving and creative aspects of coding, a passion I share with my side hobby of 2D animation. As a non-profit assistant, I gain organizational and teamwork skills while giving back to the community. The student committee helps me develop leadership and collaboration skills for future careers. These roles have strengthened my communication, time management, and adaptability, which will support my path in web design and animation. I secured these opportunities through networking, seeking growth, and a passion for technology and service.
